In recent years, this event has attracted nearly 2000 textile companies and designers from all over the world, many international cooperation agreements have been signed.

Feedback from last year's matchmaking:

"The meetings and people attending were great. The meeting even made me start my own fashion brand. I'm looking forward to next year."

"Web meetings are very cost-effective and environmentally friendly."

"Such specialized B2B events like Textile Connect 2023 provide a great opportunity to communicate, cooperate and search for right partners. The platform itself is very clear, technically – very simple to use. We were looking for designer and I am happy we have already signed a contract with a designer I met at Textile Connect platform."

"Our sewing factory is orientated towards small customers who are interested to produce small quantities and want to receive high quality services. We really liked participating in Textile Connect 2023, because this platform is customized to search for clients according to your needs and possibilities."
